December 2022 Newsletter

Greetings all, time for another catch up and an update on upcoming events at The Shed.

Xmas shutdown:

The Shed last official day for 2022 is Wednesday, December 21.

It will reopen on Monday, January 9th.

There may be some days during that period when it is available but this requires a minimum of 2 people to be present, one of which must be a certified Duty Manager.

BBQ:

The other important day is BBQ day, Wednesday, November 30th. With weekends so busy leading up to Xmas a late afternoon/evening get together should fit most day and evening users we thought.

A slight time change to an earlier newsletter so about 5pm till not too late seemed a good idea. Please let us know if you are coming.

It's bring a plate and bring a sausage or your preferred diet event. There will be two BBQ's at least with one for veg/vegan diners and one for the traditional BBQ fare. Don has turned out a couple of new tables and chairs for outside

Projects:

Xmas is fast approaching and The Shed has been very busy. We have a number of community projects on the go and more requests coming. A local kindergarten has asked if we can do some repairs on their kiddy chairs. We have suggested they bring them in 6 at a time. You may get roped into regluing legs and fixing seats if you are looking for something to do.

In the November newsletter I mentioned a purchase of a router table and router that was expected to arrive about now. Unfortunately shipping delays have kicked in and it is now next month before we see them arrive. I have my fingers crossed.

We have been the recipient of a large donation of tools recently some of which has replaced older equipment or upgraded our tool list but there is a list of excess equipment in reception for possible purchase by members. Check it out next time you are in. We are expecting more arriving soon from several donors so we will update the list as and when anything becomes available. There is also several boxes of smaller tools on a table in the lunch room. A small koha for anything that you might need would be appreciated.

We have had a number of new members join recently. I'd like to welcome them all to The Shed community and ask long standing members to make themselves known and keep an eye on them as they learn to use some of our equipment.

Committee Meeting:

The last committee meeting for the year is next Monday evening, 28th November, 6:30 pm. Our meetings next year will be moving to a daytime schedule which better suits most attendees.
